Infobase Subscriber Updates

KEEPING OUR PARTNERS AND USERS UP TO DATE!

Infobase offers a variety of eNewsletters and targeted emails alerting admins and users (where available) to the latest new features and content, helpful tips, and usage suggestions.

We can work with you to find the best way to deliver these important and useful updates to faculty, staff, and users—or, if you prefer, to restrict any correspondence.

IN THE NEWS

Is America a Surveillance State?

Technological innovation always outruns the pace of law, yet even the most sophisticated electronic surveillance capabilities have limitations, both in America and abroad.

Bloom's Literature

Recent Enhancements

2,700+ Searchable, Full-Text Poems Added and More!

There are exciting enhancements to Bloom's Literature that will make your experience using this resource richer and more useful. Please feel free to share this with your colleagues.

Full-Text Poems!

We are proud to announce that more than 2,700 new full-text poems have been added to Bloom's Literature. These poems are available in a readable format and are accessible to all users. The "More" drop-down menu has a corresponding analytics page that allows students and researchers to enhance their learning power by reading the poem alongside the analysis.

Here is a sample of the hundreds of new poems that have been added to the database:

- William Blake
- Anne Bradstreet
- William Cullen Bryant
- Lewis Carroll
- Stephen Crane
- F. Scott Fitzgerald

TIP OF THE MONTH

No Lab? No Equipment? No Problem!

Use the new interactive experiments in the award-winning Science Online, which replicate the in-class laboratory experience in a safe and user-friendly environment. Easily accessible for all types of learners, they can be used for homeschooling or as homework help. And users can repeat the experiment as many times as they need to learn the concept.
